Peace or War

Since the Democratic candidate for Vice President declares that the great and only vital issue the only thing worth struggling for in the present campaign is the trampling into the dust of the reconstruction acts of Congress and the total overturning of the State governments in the south it may be well to examine the Democratic Platform in the light of his interpretation of the issues and see if it do not mean the same thing

It is apparent and understood that Blair's declarations secured the votes of the rebel element in the convention and that no different sort of platform could have received the vote of any delegate who participated in the rebellion These men demand that the State governments organized under the reconstruction acts shall be overturned They in common with Seymour Blair and the convention hold them as usurpations and the laws under which they were organized as unconstitutional and absolutely null and void The late rebel leaders are men who have made revolution a trade If they have not on hand some seditious scheme they are out of employment Blair comes before them and pledges the Democracy by revolution in all the reconstructed States He promises them that if the Democracy succeed they shall be placed in power and without meneing, proposes that the power of the President shall be used to do it Blair puts the proposed proceeding on the ground that the reconstruction acts of Congress are unconstitutional, null and void The Convention's platform solemnly characterizes the reconstruction acts of Congress "as usurpations as unconstitutional revolutionary and void" It demands that the States shall be immediately restored to their rights in the Union under the Constitution It does not recognize any of the seven rebel States now represented in Congress as restored to its rights in the Union, under the Constitution The deduction, then, is unavoidable that the platform solemnly pledges the Democracy to disregard the laws of Congress and the constitutional amendments and to proceed to the reconstruction of such States as though nothing whatever had been done If Seymour as President, follow the policy laid down in the platform, he will refuse to recognize any governor, legislature, or court in such States, as lawful governor, legislature or court. He and his party must proceed, in the work of "immediate restoration," to appoint or elect other governors, legislatures and courts Here then comes a conflict How do the Democracy propose to proceed? Will they go with their newly made officials to the inaugurals and say, "Our friends, will you be so obliging and courteous as to retire and allow us to take charge here?" That cannot be expected, for the platform is explicit on the point that "our friends" the incumbents, are usurpers, and not in office by any constitutional warrant It is clear that they must go on to assume and exercise the functions of office in utter disregard of the present officials thus making double-headed governments, or they must forcibly oust the present incumbents. Either course would be revolution, anarchy and civil war For it can never be seriously expected that the people who have organized the State governments, under the warrant of the laws of Congress, will yield them without a struggle The platform, then means revolution just as much as does the more frank and courageous declaration of Gen. Blair It means that the seditious men who inaugurated the rebellion shall be placed again in power, though to accomplish it shall involve the necessity of calling out the military force of the United States It means that the surrender of Lee did not end the rebellion but that it shall be renewed again, with a Democratic President of the United States to lead it

The great question, then, before the country is, shall we have peace through the election of Grant and Colfax and the rightful enforcement of the laws, or shall we have revolution and civil war—to end, God only can know when or how—through the election of Seymour and Blair? This is the issue—Peace or War—and it is the one which ever shadows and sinks into comparative insignificance all others presented by the two platforms We entreat the people of Oregon to read carefully the Democratic platform and see if, in the light of the prompt endorsement of Blair's bloody letter by the Convention it does not mean all that an open declaration of a renewal of the rebellion could mean,

So far as we have read the Democratic newspapers of the Atlantic States, it appears that the "irrepressible enthusiasm" with which they received the nominations of Seymour and Blair was just about the same sort as that with which they received the election returns in 1862 and 1864 This is especially true of the West, where Pendleton was their first choice Even the papers which accept the nominations without a wry face do it in a tone indicative of anything but hope of success They think Seymour will poll the strict party vote and nothing more The general tenor of feeling immediately subsequent to the nominations as indicated by the people instead of the politicians gives a hopeful assurance that the New York nominees will not carry a single State west of the Alleghany mountains unless it may be Kentucky West Virginia and Oregon Nevada and California may be doubtful but we do not look upon any other Western State as at all likely to vote for the New York candidates

The Chief Justice

A special [illegible] of Friday [illegible] Washington, states that Judge Chase was very confident at the w[illegible] he [illegible] and [illegible] was the judgment [illegible] [illegible] day came and with it adjournment and simple [illegible] that the Chief Justice had given pledges [illegible] nation many terms with the Dem[illegible] over to him might date. He was cheerful on the platform, extremely happy [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] all [illegible] [illegible] of suffrage, as well as other domestic [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] that neither the great party which [illegible] nor the great [illegible] party [illegible] the witness will secure operation would insure [illegible] will have any cause to regret the [illegible] on its own desire with most [illegible] from [illegible] party meeting the questions of the day in the spirit of the day and assuring [illegible] a long duration of ascendency. It can [illegible] it well. A more distinct and confident [illegible] was never made than that which Mr. Chase was universally seen [illegible] to have made in the morning of Thursday July 9. No man ever was [illegible] and probably [illegible] man ever felt more confident of success. And yet the end [illegible] with [illegible] convention [illegible] 67 votes the Chief Justice received on the 4th of July, and instead [illegible] to throw him overboard. The Chief Justice will barter himself to no purpose, in permitting the Democratic party of the East to write his name upon their banners. Seymour and Rynders and John Morrissey may honor that name until the convention meets after that time they will not know him even by sight. It is sad to reflect that the Chief Justice must be from that time the most thoroughly humiliated man in the whole country." Is there any room to doubt now the truth of our prophecy? Even Andrew Johnson obtained a flattering recognition compared with the almost total failure of the convention to take up the name of Chase. It, indeed elicited [illegible] cheers, but chiefly in the galleries. As the Herald promised a month ago, the party gave a cordial reception to the Chief Justice, and cordially has [illegible] the name with great enthusiasm, but it had no idea of lending itself to his ambition. Little thought was there, with the managers of the Democratic Convention, of recognizing Mr. Chase as a candidate that they not even think it worth while to slaughter him before showing their hands. So soon as Pendleton, Hancock, and Hendricks were killed off, they instantly secured a unanimous vote for Seymour. The humiliation to which the Chief Justice has voluntarily stooped is, in our eyes, as sad a spectacle as was ever presented in the history of political parties, frequent as have been these instances of unyielding ambition overleaping the Presidential mark within the last few years.—Chicago Tribune, July 10th.

A QUAKER'S LETTER TO HIS WATCHMAKER.—I herewith send thee my pocket clock, which stands in need of thy friendly correction. The last time he was at thy friendly school he was in no way reformed or in the least benefitted thereby for I perceive by the index of his mind that he is a liar and the truth is not in him, that his pulse is sometimes slow, which betokeneth not an even temper; at other times it waketh sluggish, notwithstanding I frequently urge him when he should be on his duty, as thou knowing his hand denoteth, I find him slumbering, or, as the vanity of human reason phrase it, I catch him napping. Examine him, therefore, and prove him I beseech thee thoroughly, that thou mayest, being well acquainted with his inward frame and disposition, draw him from the error of his way and show him the path wherein he should go.

A Canadian engineer proposes a plan for shortening the voyage to Europe by means of a railroad across Newfoundland. The Legislature of that island favors the project, and has already offered a strip of land, five miles wide, to aid in the construction of the road. The greatest objection to the scheme is the prevalence of fogs on the Newfoundland coast, which would render navigation dangerous and difficult.

PORTLAND OREGON July 14, 1868

P. D. MOORE, Esq., SIR—

The undersigned having witnessed the exhibition in this city yesterday of your "Extinguisher," or Portable Self Acting Fire Engine, would state that the first experiment of a fire kindled outside of the building erected in the rear of the Central Public School House, made by using shavings, straws, tar, &c. was effectually extinguished with our machine in a short time; that the second experiment of a fire in the inside of the building made by using shavings, kerosene, straws and dry stuff was also promptly extinguished by the use of one machine in less than three minutes. The third experiment was left to the control of the Fire Department, under the direction of the Chief Engineer and the building was fired inside and outside, and when the fire was well under way the Chief Engineer gave the order to "extinguish" and the fire was effectually put out in about six minutes. A brisk breeze was blowing at the time, and we pronounce the experiment successful and satisfactory. We are satisfied that the "EXTINGUISHER" is very valuable for what it claims, namely, the prompt extinguishment of fires in their earlier stages and being portable, self acting and always ready at a moment's notice, would, if generally introduced, save much valuable property from destruction, and we regard it as a valuable auxiliary to the Fire Department. They are indispensable in those localities where no steam or other fire engine is in use, and we [illegible] them generally in dwellings, stores hotels, and public buildings.

On BOARD THE ALASKA, Portland July 13 1868

P. D. MOORE, Esq.—SIR: I have first witnessed from with[illegible] the operations of your "Extinguisher," or Portable Self Acting Fire Engine, and confess I was both surprised and highly pleased with its success.

I have no doubt whatever of its efficiency and adaptation to putting out fires in their earliest stages, however combustible the materials may be that are burning. Its action on a flame is really magical. They should be in every house of any value, or which contains valuable property, as well as on board of vessels. No one can estimate the additional security they give to both life and property. You will please furnish me [illegible] of the No. 2 sizes immediately, for the Alaska, as I sail for Hon'olu to-morrow morning. Very respectfully,

R. CALHOUN
Master of schooner "Alaska."

THESE WHEELS ARE MADE OF ALL SIZES are adapted to all heads. Unlimited low and are warranted superior to anything ever yet invented for the purpose. Received a medal at the great Mechanics' Fair at Lowell, Mass. Are eminently adapted to the purpose which it serves.

The following testimonials will be read with interest by all who have occasion for one water:

LOS GATOS, SANTA CLARA CO., CALIFORNIA, December 10, 1867.

A. M. Swain—Dear Sir:—The following [illegible] has been made by us at the latter's Saw Mill. Several wheels were [illegible] in this locality, but in shafts and no good wheels as we believe except [illegible] Buckets 7th long, rim 1 inch, [illegible] and 200 in diameter.

They would not furnish sufficient power to run [illegible] of machinery on one wheel when the buckets were filled with water hence the tests I run in each [illegible] of all. All our tests were made by measuring the depth of water in a flume and the distance a floating stick would travel in it per minute. All the flour made in our XXX and running gear is boulted with No. 11 per bbl.

Feby 1st, 1867.—Water 11 inches deep in flume 48 wide running 1680 cubic feet per minute, drives [illegible] saw shot wheel and all mill machinery to make 3 bbls flour per hour—734 cubic feet per minute.

Feby 7th.—Water 17 inches deep, 48 wide running 1800 cubic feet per minute, drives [illegible] saw shot wheel and all mill machinery to make 5 bbls flour per hour—1020 cubic feet use.

May 15th, 1868.—Water 9 inches deep, 48 wide running 1728 per minute drives [illegible] Swain wheel under 5.6 head and all mill machinery except wheat cleaners. Aug 1st.—Water 8½ inches deep, 48 wide running 1632 per minute drives [illegible] Swain wheel under 5.6 head and all mill machinery except wheat cleaners.
